

What CPD do I need to do in 2023

I am a specialist doing my college CPD

- Your AMC-accredited specialist medical college is a recognised CPD home from January 2023.
- By doing your college CPD program, you will be able to meet revised CPD requirements.

I am a specialist and not doing my college CPD

- You don't need a CPD home in 2023.
- You can keep doing the self-directed CPD you've been doing, which meets the college requirements, join the college program or join an accredited CPD home.
- You can check current requirements here.
- In 2023, keep an eye out for new CPD homes that offer CPD programs relevant to your scope of practice.
- You will need to join a CPD home before you start doing CPD in 2024.

I am an intern or PGY2 in a formal training program

- Your CPD is taken care of in your training
- No extra CPD is required

I am a PGY 3+ and am not in a specialist college training program

- You don't need a CPD home in 2023.
- Keep doing the self-directed CPD you've been doing - 50 hours annual CPD including at least one practice-based reflective element, or join the CPD program of an accredited CPD home.
- You can check current requirements here.
- In 2023, keep an eye out for new, accredited CPD homes that offer CPD programs relevant to your scope of practice.
- You will need to join a CPD home before you start doing CPD in 2024.

I am a PGY3+ and am in a specialist college training program

- Your CPD is taken care of in your training
- No extra CPD is required.

I have general registration only (no specialist registration)

- You don't need a CPD home in 2023.
- Keep doing the self-directed CPD you've been doing - 50 hours annual CPD including at least one practice-based reflective element, or join the CPD program of an accredited CPD home.
- You can check current requirements here.
- In 2023, keep an eye out for new, accredited CPD homes that offer CPD programs relevant to your scope of practice.
- You will need to join a CPD home before you start doing CPD in 2024.

I am an international medical graduate with limited registration in the specialist pathway

- Your college will be your CPD home
- By doing your college CPD program, you automatically meet revised CPD requirements.

I am an international medical graduate with limited registration - NOT in the specialist pathway

- You don't need a CPD home in 2023.
- Keep doing what you're doing until January 2024:
 - Complete the CPD activities agreed in your Board-approved supervision plan and work performance report.
 - If the agreed CPD activities total less than 50 hours, top this up so you do a total of 50 hours of CPD each year to meet current standards.
- In 2023, keep an eye out for new CPD homes that offer CPD programs relevant to your scope of practice.
- You will need to join a CPD home before you start doing CPD in 2024.

Note: If you are registered for less than four weeks, you do not need to do CPD.

I am an international medical graduate with provisional registration (not in an accredited intern position)

- You don't need a CPD home in 2023.
- You will need a CPD home for your 2024 CPD and by 2024/2025 registration renewal, when you will be asked to nominate your CPD home.
- Until then you can:
 - Complete the CPD activities agreed in your Board-approved supervision plan and work performance report.
 - If the agreed CPD activities total less than 50 hours, top this up so you do a total of 50 hours of CPD each year to meet current standards.

I have more than one specialty

- If you are doing all your colleges' CPD programs, you automatically meet revised CPD requirements.
- If you are not doing all your colleges' CPD programs, you will need a CPD home for your 2024 CPD and by 2024/2025 registration renewal, when you will need to nominate your CPD home.
 - Until then you can do self-directed CPD that meets all the colleges' requirements or join the CPD program of an accredited CPD home.
 - You can check current requirements here.