Dear AHPRA,

Please advise of the following:

1. In what way is the present CPD Triennium system broken? What statistics have you got to show it does not work?
2. What evidence do you have that your proposed model in any way improves outcomes as an advantage to the system we have?
3. Have you audited the medical staff you have on your system to find out if they feel the present system works well for them? Have they 'reflected' if change is really necessary?
4. For all of my CPD years, I have consistently exceeded the points required and I would wonder just how many practitioners do exceed the requirements?

Yours sincerely
